> IMT schools move up in the 2019 L'Étudiant engineering school rankings

The latest 2019 engineering school rankings by L'Étudiant were released on Wednesday December 5, placing all IMT schools in the top quarter of the list! This is a significant progression, as the schools were placed in the top third in the 2018 rankings.

In detail:

- Télécom ParisTech moves up two places, reaching 4th position
- IMT Atlantique remains in 10th position
- Mines Saint-Etienne moves up one place to 19th position
- Télécom SudParis moves up 5 places to 24th position
- IMT Lille Douai remains in 29th position
- IMT Mines Albi moves up 2 places to 40th position
- IMT Mines Alès moves up 12 places, reaching 40th position

The general ranking of engineering schools is based on 4 criteria: academic excellence, international perspective, corporate relationships, and opening to new audiences.

Institut Mines Télécom positions itself as a national technology institution. The rankings of its schools help it to develop renown and attractiveness, which are key factors in recruiting. This strategy contributes to the renown and attractiveness of IMT as well as benefiting all of its schools.

About IMT www.imt.fr

Institut Mines-Télécom is a public institution dedicated to higher education, research and innovation in engineering and digital technology. Always attentive to the economic world, IMT combines academic and scientific legitimacy with strong corporate relationships and a unique focus on the key transformations in digital technology, industry, energy and education in the 21st century. Its activities are conducted in Mines and Télécom graduate schools under the authority of the Ministry for Industry and Electronic Communications, in a subsidiary, and in associate schools or schools under contractual agreements. IMT is a founding member of the Alliance Industrie du Futur. It has two Carnot Institute accreditations for its high-quality research partnerships. Every year, around 100 start-ups come out of its incubators.
